THE MUSICAL GROUP, 'Joy Singers' entertained the Pamplin AARP at the Feb. 12 meeting.

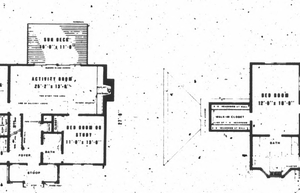
Pamplin AARP enjoys 'Joy'

The Pamplin chapter of American Association of Retired Persons held their regular monthly meeting on Feb. 12 and it was a meeting that was most constructive as well as outstanding in entertainment.

The young group of eight who call themselves the "Joy Singers" entertained with a number of contemporary religious songs that were mostly styled and arranged by their director and it was considered by the membership to be of quality that should be repeated by another performance at a later meeting date.

The program director for A.A.R.P. "Jim Collins" took it upon his own to try to entertain the young group of singers by singing a little ditty about his poor old daddy's whiskers. The song brought laughter to the entire group.

The evening came to a close after all enjoyed the refreshments that were served.



AN APPRECIATIVE GROUP enjoyed the music of 'Joy Singers'.

Inspection law amended

RICHMOND - The Department of State Police announced recently that it had revised motor vehicle inspection procedures to exclude Saturdays and Sundays from the seven-day validity period of rejection stickers.

A spokesman for the department noted that previously a motorist, whose vehicle was rejected, was given seven calendar days to have defective items repaired or replaced and the vehicle reinspected. However, the Department has become aware that motorists may face some difficulty in having repairs made on weekends.

Each vehicle inspection will continue to be a complete inspection and will include a check of all applicable items, except that a reinspection of a rejected vehicle by the same station during the seven-day validity of the rejection sticker need include only a check of the items previously found defective. Such reinspection will not constitute a complete inspection and no inspection fee will be charged.

The validity period of a rejection sticker is seven (7) days excluding Saturdays, Sundays and the actual day of the initial inspection.

CVCC plans courses

In keeping with a national interest in reviewing, renewing, and re-doing, CVCC's Office of Continuing Adult Education and Community Services will offer at least two groups of non-credit Community Service courses during the Spring designed to help ease economic pressures on the consumer and the jobholder.

Some courses will teach students how to repair their lawnmowers, motorcycles, automobiles, or home appliances. "By participating in one of these nominally-priced courses, a person could very easily save the price of a lawnmower, motorcycle, or automobile tuneup or appliance repair," noted Frank Lauderdale, the Director of CVCC's program of Continuing Education and Community Service.

Other courses are designed to assist the jobholder in improving job skills. Assertiveness training for the new or prospective manager, speed reading, interior decoration, and other courses related to the workplace are scheduled for Spring.

CVCC's Spring Quarter will begin March 30, but registration of Community Service courses and other courses begins on March 16.

Information about Continuing Education and Community Service courses is available to anyone calling the CVCC Office of Continuing Education at 239-0321, extension 280.
